A Protocol for Finding Jewish Values in Community

1. What three values did you find first and which ones were the last to surface? Do you see any connections between the easy/harder to find values and your personal approach/challenge to accessing those values?

2. Think of your various Edah communities. Name the value/s that they exemplify from this list and describe how they are present in the community.

3. What are ways that the edah nourishes your collective identity? What are the ways that it limits it?

4. Look over the list of hidden values. Which value is the most personally esteemed in your life? What are three actions or decisions you have made recently that are an expression of that value?
