

Ways to use M<sup>2</sup>'s Freedom Value Spark

1

Feeling the need to dance for liberation? Our Freedom Value Spark playlist is filled with songs to do just that. Play this soundtrack as you are preparing for seder, getting rid of your chametz, or play it in the background at your seder or any other time. What song would you add to this list?

2

How do our ancestors speak about freedom?

Use the source sheet found in our Freedom Value Spark:

- ✦ Print out this sourcesheet and add it to your seder table. Add it the maggid section of the seder. Or, sprinkle the texts around the table and pick them up throughout the meal.
- ✦ Consider having a pre- or post-seder chevrutah call with family or friends and use the questions to help you work through the sheet.
- ✦ Choose one text that speaks to you and add it to the bottom of your email signature for the week of pesach.

3

How can art help us make meaning of our experiences? Print the image cards and...

- ✦ Consider placing them on your seder table. At the start of the seder, ask each person to choose an image that resonates with their idea of freedom.
- ✦ Looking for your kids to help you set the seder table? Use the image cards to make place-cards for the people at your meal.
- ✦ Having a zoom seder? Consider using these images as your virtual backdrop. Ask each person to choose the image that resonates with them and to change their backdrop to it. See here for how to do that.

Engraving our Freedom Art Project. Access our Freedom Value Spark for more:

- ✦ This project can be done on your own, with your children and family. It can be done in preparation before the chag and can be added to your seder table.
- ✦ Or, store it away for a great chol hamoed activity. Take a picture of it and send it as a virtual pesach card.
